

"Eelgrass- Our Very Own Coastal Treasure"

Free Presentation sponsored by
Salem Sound Coastwatch

When: Monday, March 30, 7 – 8:30 pm
Where: Beverly Public Library, Sohler Room
32 Essex St, Beverly, MA 01915

- Eelgrass provides one of the most important marine habitats
- We have the second largest eelgrass beds in Massachusetts right in our own front yard--off the Beverly/Manchester coast

Come learn about this remarkable resource--

» what it is

» what role it plays in coastal ecology, and

» what's being done to monitor and protect it

Speakers:

- Robert Buchsbaum, PhD, Conservation Scientist with Mass Audubon
- Tay Evans, Marine Fisheries Biologist with the MA Div Marine Fisheries
- Sue Tuxbury, Biologist in the Habitat Conservation Division of NOAA Fisheries
- Phil Colarusso, PhD, Marine Biologist at EPA

For more information visit www. salemsound.org or call 978-741-7900

